

LIBRARY OPENED IN ORANJESTAD

A large crowd turned out last month for the opening of Aruba's first public library and reading room. Located in temporary quarters at the Government offices on John G. Emanstraat, the library will soon move to the present Public Works Building, when that department moves to its new quarters near the harbor. Shown above examining the new library facilities are Dr. W. J. Goslinga, inspector of education in Curaçao; Acting Lt. Gov. H. A. Hessling; and Dr. J. C. Krafft, librarian.

Hopi interesadonan tabata presente na habrimento oficial di Aruba su promé libreria público. E portret aki ta mustra e siguiente senjores durante e ceremonia: Dr. Goslinga, Inspecteur; Gezaghebber Interino H. A. Hessling, y Dr. J. C. Krafft.
